

PRIVACY POLICY

In line with the confidentiality agreement with the Company, no employee is permitted to make confidential information available to any other person without authorisation.

The server will be monitored for any unauthorised disclosure of information relating directly to the Company's policies or procedures; files or information or any other kind of correspondence which could have a negative impact on the Company's business.

Disclosure of confidential information through electronic mail is considered a breach of the agreement between the Company and the employee and may lead to dismissal.

We secure data by maintaining reasonable measures to protect personal information from loss, misuse and unauthorised access, disclosure and destruction. We also take reasonable steps to keep personal information accurate, current, complete, confidential and reliable for its intended use and complying with the conditions for lawful processing of personal information in a reasonable manner that does not infringe the privacy of any person/entity/body/individual/company.

We do not have a website in which any personal information is stored. Therefore we do not make use of cookies.
